

CHAPTER 4

CONCLUSSION

After analyzing the novel by Jodi Picoult My Sister's Keeper, the writer concluded that there are three main topics of this thesis analysis: the first is four characters and characterizations, it contain by: Anna, Sara, Brian, and Campbell. The seconds is the plot of this novel, it includes by: exposition, complication, climax, falling action and resolutions. The last main topic is the moral value that found of this story.

Anna is a good figure when she was a daughter and when she was as a sister, the writer found that Anna characterization she is loving person. The second character is Sara, She is a mother. According to this story; the writer concludes that the Sara character is self confident and stubborn, it means that she believes that Kate will healthy. The third character is Brian; the writer found that Brian's characterization is a wise person. The last is Alexander Campbell, Campbell is helper person for Anna, he is a lawsuit and also becomes a friend for Anna, and the writer found that Campbell's characterization is a kind person.

The Plot of this story separates in five parts; there are expositions, complication, climax, falling action, and denouement. The exposition happens when Kate diagnose fail kidney and she needs a donor kidney for save her life. The complication happens when Sara ask to Anna that Anna must give her one kidney for Kate. The climax of this story happens when Anna does not want to be donor for Kate anymore. Anna begin claim her mother in the court because Sara does not care of Anna's desire, and Sara is force to Anna that she must give her kidney for save Kate's life. The falling action of this story begins when the judge was deciding that Anna gets her medical emancipation. Sara is permissible of Anna to get her medical emancipation; because Sara knows that the reason Anna does not give her kidney because Anna has instructed by Kate. The denouement of this story happens when Anna has an accident car and she death. Kate is life with Anna's kidney. She healthy, she becomes a dancer teacher and the other member of Fitzgerald family is happy. Even though, they loss of Anna. Besides that, the moral value of this story is when the human has attempt to make their desire came true, they will get it.

