

CONCLUSION

Second is about hierarchy of need that has been analyzing by writer in previous chapter. There are five part of this analysis. The first is physiological needs. Elijah fulfills his physiological need from the bird that was dropping meat near Elijah by accidentally. Next day, he is success for following bird's way looking for meal when he stays in the desert. Other place, Elijah asks the widower to accept him for staying at her home when he stays in Akbar. Second hierarchy is safety need. Elijah goes to other places to save himself. He fulfills his second hierarchy in Akbar. Third is love and belonging. Elijah gets full of love from his parents. However, he is strong in every condition. When he moved to Akbar, Elijah falls in love to the widow who has helped him for giving residence. He also becomes part of Akbar's society. Fourth is esteem need. The governor trusts Elijah as a man who can provide the best solution to solve a problem in Akbar. Being as stranger become the right-hand man of governor is the esteem. The next award for Elijah is a position as secretaries of governor. The last is self actualization. The real of Elijah's self actualization is successful in building Akbar. The moment of resurrection of Akbar will be the important history for long time.

The last point is about the effect of Elijah struggle in the novel. The Elijah's self-Actualization influences people to forget the war tragedy in Akbar. The new of Akbar society live in peaceful. They care each other as well. The boy is capable to build library for Akbar. Elijah replaces Akbar better than before. The son of the widow who is blames Elijah as damnation for their life grows up as a wise man. He becomes governor of Akbar. He leads Akbar as well as Elijah.
