

what she feels in her heart and she saves it herself. Seventh, Edna is unstable. She becomes easy to manage her feeling that for a moment she can be happy and suddenly she feels sad. Eighth, Edna is uncommunicative. She can save everything in her heart without being known by another person. Ninth, Edna is lonely because her husband leaves her alone. The last, Edna is ignorant. She does not care about everything new around her life. From the previous description, the research knows that Edna's behavior has changed. Edna's thought is to be a free woman to make her depression.

The researcher can know that Edna does her life in the wrong way. Her statement to resolve her problem is unreal good, she thinks that no body understands her and she thinks negatively. She cannot think depend on reality and based on the intellectual of her mind. She falls in love to a vacationer. He is Robert (a younger man). Whereas, she feels conscious that she is not alone, she has a family. She has a husband and two children. Her husband still has a business to another place for weeks. She to leave with Robert but she feels depression and she falling love to another man, his name is Alcee Arabin. Her desire is fall in love to Robert but she cannot meet again with him. In the end, she feels frustration to face her desire and commits to suicide by herself.

Edna is unconscious to face her desire. She realize her problem in wrong way. Desires move us to action, give us urges, incline us to joy at their satisfaction, and incline us to sorrow at their frustration. Naturalistic work on desire has focused on distinguishing which of these phenomena are part of the nature of desire, and which are merely normal consequences of desiring(Schroeder 1). There are three features of desires; intrinsic,realizer, and instrumental desires. The intrinsic is Edna falls in love to young boy (Robert). Suddenly, he left her to another country. The realizer is Edna tries to forgotten him(Robert) by falls in love to another boy(Alcee Arobin) and the instrumental desires is Edna decide to suicide by herself because she unconscious to thought becomes a good mother and good wife to her family (Leonce as her husband, Raoul and Etienne as their children).
