CHAPTER V

CONCLUSSION AND SUGGESTION

This chapter presents the conclussion and suggestion the whole result of analysis. It explains the summary of finding which is conducted in chapter four. This chapter concludes the finding deals with the answers of research problem which are settled in the first chapter.

5.1 CONCLUSSION

Compliting this study, the writer concludes the finding that is able to reveal the answers of three research problems. The writer proves that the main character, Rosie truly uses verbal intimate style in the movie. Rosie produces five characteristics support intimate style types. The characteristics are Jargon, close friend relationship, family relationship, extraction and addressee.

Based on the finding, the writer concludes that close friend relationship characteristic is the most frequent type used by Rosie. The writer finds thirteen (13) data in Close Friend Relationship meanwhile the other categories are ten (10) data of intimate style with Jargon version, three (3) data in Extraction, three (3) data in Family Relationship, and five (5) data in Addressee version. This finding result correlates with the first of research problem. The writer deals with Martin Joss (1976) theory to solve this problem.

Dealing the second of research problem that correlates with the purpose of Rosie uses intimate style, the writer finds some purposes of using it. They are to represent or to show her condition of feeling and to indicate a close intimacy to Alex.

The following finding is dealing with the third research problem. The writer reveals some factors that influence Rosie uses intimate style. The writer concludes social factors are the most frequent factor that influence Rosie uses intimate style.

To solve the second and the third research problems, the writer is supported by Holmes (1992) theory which states about the factors that influence the language use.

5.2 SUGGESTION

This chapter presents the suggestions which may be considered for the future researchers on language style, especially on intimate style study. The first suggestion is the future researcher is better to consider a daily life story as research object of intimate style study. It will create an exception one of intimate style research because mostly some researchers use movie or novel as research object to analyze intimate style.

The second, the future researcher can consider to involve the beneficial of using intimate style at communicating in daily life. It will give a direct impact for readers. It also makes the advantage of the research can be useful in a real life. In order that, this study can help the society to socialize better with intimate style.

To conclude, the writer hopes this study has some benefits for the readers. In addition, the suggestion can give some useful contributions for future researchers on related studies.

