

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION

A. Conclusion

After analyzing the data and based on the research finding, the writer concludes that commanding act is an important thing for daily communication because by applying command, the message can be delivered successfully. In this study, the writer analyzes sixty-two fragments with data of command. Based on the data that have been analyzed, the writer concludes that there are two kinds of command that is applied by Prospero was a character in the drama. They are direct command and indirect ccommand.

After classifying the kinds of command, the writer describes the way of the characters in the drama The Tempest drama express their repair. There are four kinds of politeness strategies to express that commands. They are bald on-record strategy, positive politeness strategy, negative politeness strategy and bald off record strategy.

B. Suggestions

Based on the analysis of the research above, the researcher proposes some suggestions to the following parties:

1. To Linguistic Students

It is suggested that students learn more about pragmatics, especially on commands. It is expected that the students can get more knowledge about commands that are reflected in their language.

2. To Other Researchers

Because this study is still limited to the types of commands and the way of expressing commands, it is suggested that other researchers conduct their investigations in the similar field related to commands but on a different objective. A deep understanding on the implementation of commands, such as form of command, function of commands and the factors which influence the use of commands in certain communities will give a deeper understanding about the use of commands. These might be a good focus for future research.
