

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION

After conducting this research, it is found that speech acts used by the speakers when they say an utterances, which means saying and doing something. People can do anything through utterances such as commanding, requesting, and apologizing. Then, the resercher can be concluded that speech act, which is focused on illocutionary act used by Susilo Bambang Yudoyono interview have some illocutionary acts namely; directives, commissives, expressives, representatives or assertives, and also declaratives.

Moreover, Representatives include such as suggesting, concluding, affirming, informing, forecasting, and believing. The type of declarative can be found in the form of asking, begging. And, the type of commissives is found in the form of offering, guaranteeing, promising, the type of expressive is found in the form of thanking and congratulating and the type of declaratives is found in the form of appointing and sentencing.

After analyzing the data of interview, it is concluded that the majority illocutionary act used by the speaker is representatives, and illocutionary verb which is mostly used is informing. In this part of interview, the speaker performs direct speech act since the utterance happens when form and function matches.