CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

5.1. Conclusion

As from the result of the data analysis that described in the chapter IV, this research will be concluded based on formulated research questions that will be described into two points. First is about the kinds of figurative language used in The Jakarta Post Newspaper and the second is the function of figurative language used in The Jakarta Post Newspaper.

Firstly, the researcher uses the Evelyn Hatch's theory of figurative language that consists of simile, metaphor, synecdoche, metonymy, hyperbole, allusion, personification and antithesis. In this case, the researcher found that there are 63 sentences which contain the figurative language in the sport rubrics of The Jakarta Post newspaper. All of these terms are divided into seven categories, and found that simile and synecdoche consist of 1 sentence, personification are 2 sentences, metaphor are 5 sentences, hyperbole and allusion are 10 sentences, and metonymy are 34 sentences.

Secondly, this research described the function of figurative language in The Jakarta Post newspaper is to shorten the writing, to give a deeper meaning, to create a larger effect and stress to a specific point, and to stimulate ideas, associations, and give an extra information to the reader.

5.2. Suggestion

In this research, the researcher analyses the kinds of figurative language used in the Jakarta Post newspaper and the function of figurative language used in the Jakarta Post newspaper. There are still many subjects of figurative language that can be analysed such as novel, comic and movie. Another suggestion for the further researcher is to analyse using another theory of figurative language such as using the theory of figurative language by Rozakis or Verdonks. The researcher hopes that this research can gave benefits to another researcher.