

ABSTRACT

This study aims to determine the relationship between positional prejudice with religious tolerance. The research method used is quantitative method with sampling purposive sampling technique in ITS and UNAIR Surabaya students who follow student organization. Data analysis technique used is product moment correlation analysis. The result of the analysis shows that the research hypothesis is acceptable, that the social prejudice variable has a significant negative correlation with religious tolerance. Where the correlation coefficient between social prejudice with religious tolerance of -0.435. This study shows a negative correlation which means having the opposite direction of correlation, the higher the social prejudice followed by the lower the religious tolerance. Social prejudice contributes effectively to religious tolerance of 18.9%. The remaining 81.1% is influenced by other factors.

Keywords: social prejudice, religious tolerance.

