

ABSTRACT

This study aims to determine the relationship between humility and empathy with forgiveness. The research method used quantitative method with simple random sampling technique. Respondents in this study were 82 college students at the Islamic boarding school Al-Jihad, Jl. Jemursari Utara III No.9, Jemur Wonosari, Wonocolo, Surabaya City. The Hypothesis proposes is (1) the relationship between the variables of humility and forgiveness, (2) the relationship between empathy and forgiveness, (3) the relationship between humility and empathy operating together with forgiveness. Data obtained in the study were analyzed using multiple regression analysis technique (multiple linear regression). The results showed that there is relationship between humility and forgiveness (Correlation value 0.258 And significance 0.010 <0.05), then There is Relationship between humility And forgiveness (Correlation value 0.393 and significance 0.000 <0.05), And then there is a relationship also between Humility And empathy Operate Together To Forgiveness (F value arithmetic > F table (7.362 > 0.311)). Other findings show that there is a difference in forgiveness levels in terms of age and gender demographic variables.

Key word : humility, empathy, forgiveness