

CONCLUSION AND SUGESTION

5.1. Conclusion

After the researchers analyzed the data that had been discussed in the previous chapter, the researcher attempts to explain the conclusion of this research. The research data are from conversation which has relation with four kinds of language style. The mostly used is casual style which has 169 data, consultative style which has 14 data, formal style which has 5 data, and the last is intimate style which has 26 data. The first is casual style, is used for the conversation in our relaxed or normal situation that is appropriate to the conversations with our friends or sometimes members of a family, such as outside the classroom, when the student have a chat. the second is consultative style, is generally employed in a semi-formal communication situation, such as between military of different rank, this style is one type of language, which is required by every speaker, since this style is the central point in the system because it is chiefly involved in language style. Third is formal style, This style is used in a formal situation such as in graduation ceremony. Required when the group becomes too large to permit participation, and the speaker is uncertain how much the audience already knows or how they might react. The last is intimate style, also a completely private language developed within families, lovers, and the closest of friends. It might embarrass some for non-group members to hear them in-group intimate language. The word that generally signal intimacy such as, “dear”, “darling”, and even “honey” or “hon” might be used in this situation. All data displayed is accurate data from private conversations with male users as well as female users.

5.2. Suggestion

The result of this research does not cover all of the kind of language style. However, this is still far from the complete one, but by this research, at least it can be known the language styles used in conversation between male and female in LINE application. Hopefully, criticisms and suggestions will rise from the reader to gain the better researcher in the future. Here, the researcher would like to suggest some points related with the subject of the research. To the readers, hopefully they can choose the style of language proportionally to be used for conversations with the opposite sex and same sex. To the students, they can understand the types of language styles, especially in conversation language style. Thus, they may have a good comprehension on the written text by reading the whole texts. It will be able to help them to avoid having wrong interpretation. Furthermore, it can improve the skill in language, especially in writing and speaking skill.

To the teachers, in order that their students can easily comprehend the language style theory. It also suggested that they should take examples of language style in conversation. To the other researchers who would like to conduct the same research could complete this research not only about the kinds of language style used and how they used the language style, but also about the context of the sentences and the function of the language style.

