CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

A. Conclusion

This chapter presents the conclusion and suggestions, which are, derived from the research findings. The result of the data analysis could be concluded as follows:

- 1. The implementation of CIRC technique did not do well. First, it was showed that not all indicators in the observation sheet in teaching reading narrative text had been done well by the teacher. Second, the limited time when CIRC technique was applied. It caused that the implementation of CIRC technique not maximally enough
- 2. The students' response about the effectiveness of CIRC technique in teaching reading narrative text through questionnaire was effective. The students' responses toward the implementation of CIRC technique were good. It was prove by the data of questionnaire that the students were like on the implementation of CIRC technique. In addition, it could be revealed that the teacher's explanation about the material was clear. Beside the students admitted, the material from their teacher was clearly understood. The students' opinion about the advantages of CIRC technique, students stated that CIRC technique gave advantages in learning English especially in teaching reading. The last about the improvement in reading skill, students stated that CIRC technique could improve their reading skill. It was showed from the result of students' reading work was increase.

B. Suggestion

1. For the teacher

- a. The teacher has to manage the time in teaching and learning process especially in English lesson.
- b. The teacher has to learn better to apply her technique in teaching reading skill in order to make the teaching and learning process run well in the classroom
- c. The teacher has to be consistent to apply CIRC technique especially in activity in each meeting

2. For the students

- a. The students have to pay attention when the teacher gives explanations in order to understand teacher's explanation easily.
- b. The students have to participate actively in teaching and learning process especially in English lesson.
- c. The students have to participate actively when they work in-group.
- d. The students have to check their reading work after they finish it.

3. For Further Researcher

The researcher hopes that the next researcher can develop this research by continuing this observation in implementation of CIRC technique with the different problems of the study, the different approaches, analysis. Therefore, do the best on the next research.
