

CHAPTER IV

CONCLUSION

After the discussion, the writer can conclude that Darby's motivation to reveal the traveler's crime; the first is the abduction of her friend Melanie Cruz, the second is the death of her friend Stacey Stephens, the third is the abduction of other women, the fourth is Darby's regret and the last is Darby's anxiousness. The motivation or needs that Darby wants to fulfill are; find and save her friend, Melanie Cruz, catch and reveal the identity of the Traveler, and stop the crime. So, there is no women becomes the next victims. Then redeem or pay her regret and anxiousness to Melanie and Stacey, also to their mother.

To be able to reveal the crime she determined to be a police woman. She changes herself from coward to be brave, to be a strong woman, then she fight the Traveler and finally she wins. The crime have already end, the Traveler was dead. After the crime can stop, there is no the abduction that happens to women, the situation becomes safe, quiet, and comfortable for people around.

Also the writer can conclude Darby's characterization they are; kind, care, boring woman, coward and brave. Darby represents nature through her motivation spirit and her effort to reveal the Traveler's crime. The strong motivation push her to do something to get what she wants.
